

Science Reporter

Monthly popular science magazine published by CSIR-NIScPR

Communicating science since the past six decades

Want to Write for Science Reporter?

Guidelines for Authors

- Avoid very specialised, technical, mundane and textbookish topics.
- Write in a popular style, easily understandable and of interest for the average high school student.
- You may submit full-length articles of about 3500 words, short features of up to 1500 words, news reports of about 1000 words, book reviews, reports, etc.
- The Editor reserves the right to include a submitted write-up as a full-length article, short feature, news item, etc.
- The Editor reserves the right to reject even invited articles.
- Articles not found suitable are sent back immediately. Information is conveyed about accepted articles. However, acceptance does not guarantee immediate publication.
- Plagiarism is not acceptable. Even after acceptance of an article if it is found to have been plagiarised, it will be sent back. Authors may even be blacklisted.
- Submissions should be original and unpublished. Illustrations and photographs accompanying submissions should be copyright-free/permitted.
- It is the author's responsibility to ensure the validity, authenticity, originality and unpublished status of the submission. Authors are solely accountable for their content/information/data.
- Articles should carry a Self-declaration stating that the submission is original, authentic and has not been published anywhere else.
- All articles must clearly include the details — Name, Address, a brief biodata, and Email.
- Contributions should be sent via Email at sr.niscpr@csir.res.in

The Science Reporter will not be responsible for any kind of plagiarism issues and copyright violations; it would be the author's sole responsibility.

NIScPR Online Periodicals Repository

Subscribers can access Science Reporter online at NOPR, while issues older than six months are available for free to everyone.

Click → <https://nopr.niscpr.res.in> → Then Click SR

SCIENCE REPORTER

Exploring Science & Technology

A CSIR Publication

Access to the Science Reporter portal is available at

<https://sciencereporter.niscpr.res.in/>

